INDIANA HEALTHCARE EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS SYMPOSIUM

2018

SPEAKER Erica Graham – Medical and Bio-Response Manager, Moore Advanced Services Group

TITLE “Controlling the Breakdown – Transforming Preparedness into Action”

ABSTRACT After spending months or years engaging in preparedness planning, documentation, and situational exercises, the actual event has inevitably become a reality. Where do you go from there? What to Expect? How Will it Work? A focus on disaster emergency actions within healthcare facilities.

- Critical first steps after the incident
- Evaluation of Exposure
- What to expect from vendor partners

Erica Graham, Medical and Bio-Response Manager for Moore Advanced Services, has been involved in the safety and restoration industry for over ten years. With her expertise in residential and commercial restoration, Erica found a need for concentration in the healthcare industry to set it aside from the rest. Her passion for patient care and infection control has created an avenue to help educate and train her fellow industry members and those affected by disasters in critical care settings. Erica is currently serving her second 4 yr term as a Board of Directors member for Meridian Health Services in Muncie, IN as well as involved as a member of their emergency and financial planning committees. She is active with multiple other affiliations within the healthcare and pharmaceutical industry. She has a passion for child advocacy and sports involvement, coaching for 10+ years. Erica has spent her 34 years in Central Indiana and currently has a teenage son and daughter preparing to pave their own paths in the world.
